

ACMI / Wet-Lease
Contract Monitor
June 2023

Welcome to the first ch-aviation ACMI Contract Monitor report for June 2023, which tracks global ACMI Contracts and outlines the largest Customer and Provider of ACMI Services. Feel free to share this report with your Colleagues and Friends.

It was created by ch-aviation using our airline and fleet data and Space-based flight tracking data provided by our great friends at Spire to ensure the highest level of accuracy.

As we plan to publish updated ACMI Contract Monitor reports from time to time, feel free to send in ideas and suggestions on how we can make this report even more meaningful to you by using the contact form here.

And for all of you who are not completely firm on the term ACMI, here is a short recap:

ACMI or more commonly known as Wet lease, is a leasing arrangement whereby one airline (the lessor) provides an aircraft, crew, maintenance, and insurance (ACMI) to another airline, which pays by hours operated. Or simply put, ACMI is the outsourcing of the operation of a flight to another airline.

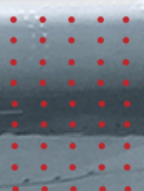

ACMI is often used to temporarily cover additional aircraft demand that does not justify building up its own capacity, for example, during Holidays, Pilgrimages, planned Maintenance events or the launch of new routes. It is also used to circumvent regulatory or political restrictions.

An ACMI contract can last from just a few flights to several months, if not years.

Over the last few years, the ACMI Market has grown constantly and has seen many new participants.

The following report covers ACMI contracts between the 2nd of June 2023 and the 3rd of July 2023; the flight numbers exclude North American capacity purchase agreements and intra-group wet-lease. This report should give you a good understanding of the current ACMI Market Landscape. A topic we are very enthusiastic about.
